THANK YOU TO OUR 2020 INNOVATION CELEBRATION GALA SUPPORTERS!

The RMSC Innovation Celebration gala went virtual on Saturday, October 17, 2020. At this year's themed event, Periodic Elements of Change, guests enjoyed an evening at home of fanciful fundraising, a catered dinner, wine, dessert, an at-home science experiment, and a live program shining a light on the women who have inspired STEAM education.

Your support of this year’s Innovation Celebration allows the RMSC to achieve our mission to inspire a better future for all through curiosity, exploration, and participation in science, culture, and the natural world. As a result, more school-aged children will learn about science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) through hands-on exhibits and programs. Thank you to all who provided support, including our committee co-chairs, Mike & Toni Ganguzza and Drew & Marie Nye for their tremendous leadership.

HELLO FRIENDS,

Here we are at the beginning of a new year looking back on one of the most difficult and important years of our lives.

As with all of you, there have been so many highs and lows for RMSC this year. With nearly four months of complete closure of all RMSC locations, including the museum, planetarium, nature center, and preschool, we lost much of the momentum that was growing at the beginning of the year. We had fewer staff members, fewer operational dollars to work with, and fewer opportunities to serve you. Upon reopening with new restrictions, and through the remainder of 2020, we continued to operate with a decreased level of capacity and visitorship. The science says that the precautions we continue to take make for a safe visiting experience, but we understand that not everyone is ready. We miss seeing you.

While the past year brought with it many challenges, some magic happened in 2020 also. We adopted a new mission statement. We wrote a new strategic plan that pins our focus towards a stable and equitable future as a pillar of the community. We acquired two outstanding programs; the Walden Project, N.Y. at the Cumming Nature Center, and the Joe Wilson Science Consultant Program engineered by Xerox at the Museum. We turned exhibit spaces into classrooms to allow for additional space for children to socially distance during Curiosity Camp and Curiosity Club. We turned educational programs for all ages into virtual experiences. We found safe ways to hold summer camp and continue preschool learning. We brought outdoor learning experiences to more children than ever before. We figured out ways to bring the solar system into living rooms in western New York and well beyond. We opened our doors to students to support their virtual education, providing a safe space for the children and enabling parents to continue working. We doubled down on our commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion by, among many things, building and opening our newest exhibit, The Changemakers: Rochester Women who Changed the World.

None of this would have happened without our members, our donors, and our community partners. Throughout the year, you have stepped up to offer support, expertise, and charitable gifts that have enabled us to build exhibits, maintain and preserve our collections, create virtual field trips, maintain our trails, engage our diversity and inclusion consultants for their expertise and valuable time, and provide scholarships to children in need so they can attend our camps, virtual field trips, and day programs.

With 2020 behind us, we look forward to an exciting 2021. With a strong sense of hope, vaccines on the horizon, a renewed sense of purpose, and the support of people like you, RMSC will continue to serve our community as we have been doing diligently since 1912. We are incredibly thankful for you, our RMSC family, and we look forward to seeing you again soon. Until then, stay well and as we always say, stay curious!

Gratefully,

Hillary Olson, President & CEO
THE CHANGEMAKERS

Since opening in November 2020, The Changemakers: Rochester Women Who Changed the World has encouraged visitors to become Changemakers in their own lives. The community-curated exhibition shines a light on the impact of more than 200 diverse regional and Haudenosaunee women – both past and present – who have advocated, organized, invented, and enterprised to create a more equitable, healthy, connected, and sustainable world. An awe-inspiring 7,000 sq. ft. presentation on the Museum’s third floor, The Changemakers is the Rochester Region’s largest celebration of women’s accomplishments unveiled under one roof in the centennial year of the 19th Amendment. With a focus on diverse stories that have been forgotten, downplayed, or excluded from the textbooks, the exhibition is creating a more inclusive and relatable conversation about the people who have shaped history and are making history now.

Inspired by a teacup-smashing protest in 1970, guests have written so many responses to a prompt asking what barriers they want to break that they’ve nearly filled a 5-gallon jug. After just two months, the popular Cessna airplane interactive – connecting to mid-20th century pioneering aviators Dorothy Layne McIntyre and Dawn Seymour – has logged so much flight time that it required unscheduled maintenance! Featured Changemakers are inviting in new audiences and connecting with other Changemakers to talk about objects on display and explore collaborations, while community organizations are using the exhibition to inspire innovative projects and partnerships. RMSC Curiosity Club instructor Lundyn Benjamin has found The Changemakers especially empowering and brings Club kids to visit during their free time. “I want to be up on the wall, too,” they tell her. “With hard work you will get there,” she encourages. Thanks to the dedicated participation of dozens of community volunteers, partner organizations, and consultants from diverse backgrounds, The Changemakers is transforming the Rochester Region’s dialogue around who we are and what we can do as individuals and a community to create a better future for everyone.

Even if you’ve visited the exhibit already, come back in the Spring for new and exciting additions! Is there a Changemaker in your life that you’d like to nominate? Check out a map of other Changemakers and nominate yours at msc.org/changemakers.
AMID PANDEMIC, BANK OF AMERICA EXTENDS A (SANITIZED) HAND

Bank of America has been a longstanding partner of the RMSC, supporting our work in a variety of ways throughout the years, including providing support for our educational programs and enabling us to participate in their Museums On Us program. Most recently, they've been helping us keep our hands clean!

Always thinking outside the box for ways to support their community partners, Bank of America recognized the increased need during the COVID-19 pandemic for safety supplies, and stepped up to lend a hand. The RMSC was grateful to receive several cases of hand sanitizer, which has been used to help students and visitors safe in our Curiosity Club and Preschool classrooms, throughout the Museum and Strasenburgh Planetarium, and at our Forest School at the Cumming Nature Center.

“The health and safety of the Rochester community remains our top priority during this health and humanitarian crisis,” said Kristina Dengler, Rochester market manager for Bank of America. “One of the ways we keep that focus is by working with local partners to identify the most vulnerable populations—such as low income families and communities of color unable to acquire proper masks and hand sanitizer, as well as schools and health centers serving these communities,—and provide them with PPE. RMSC is continuing to educate the Rochester community, and it’s important to us to help keep museum-goers safe.” As Bank of America helps us contribute to visitor safety, RMSC’s participation in the Museums On Us program provides one free admission to Bank of America cardholders on the first full weekend of each month.

The RMSC extends our gratitude to Bank of America for their support of our programs, our visitors, and our community!

CURIOSITY CLUB

Curiosity Club began in August of 2020 and is still going strong with 25-30 students a day! Curiosity Club provides a safe, supportive, and fun environment for virtual learners during the school day. Students attend their virtual classes, engage in hands-on STEM projects, and explore the RMSC’s exhibits and live science shows throughout the day. Because of generous continuing scholarship support totalling over $92,000, Curiosity Club is able to provide this experience free of charge to many families, which also includes free breakfast and lunch for all participants. In the coming months, the RMSC hopes to expand Curiosity Club to include even more students, and to secure more scholarship funding to extend care for the families we serve through the rest of the 2021 academic year.

THANK YOU VOLUNTEERS!

As thoughtful human beings, we often like to reflect back on the previous calendar year as we simultaneously turn the page and look forward to a new one. This year’s reflection comes with mixed emotions - the COVID-19 pandemic has dominated nearly every aspect of our lives, and there seem to be very few positive things that we can draw on during the worst global pandemic in a century. While we can probably each think of some personal joys that we found during the last year - more time spent with family, discovering a new technology, reduced global pollution levels during sustained economic shutdowns - one that really resonates here at the RMSC has to do with community members putting differences aside, and coming together to help people in need. I’m talking, of course, about volunteering.

As we celebrate another Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, the topic of civic duty comes to mind. Loosely defined as the “responsibility of a citizen,” civic duty is somewhat of an “unwritten rule” of a person’s contributions to the society they live in, especially one that was founded on democratic values as the United States was. Here in Rochester, people take civic duty seriously - which the citizens of our community proved without a doubt in 2020.

When the pandemic forced almost the entire world into a lockdown, our community of Rochester, NY was not spared. In early March 2020, all but essential industries were shut down until further notice, and people went into panic mode. Despite the abundance of chaos and uncertainty in the early days, another natural human instinct kicked in shortly after, as it always seems to do when large numbers of people are in great need: the desire to help others. In a time of major crisis, the people of our community stepped up to volunteer in any way they could to fight back against the impacts of the virus. Volunteers showed up in huge numbers at food banks, shelters, churches, medical facilities, schools, testing sites...anywhere that would take them to lend a hand in any way they could. Here in Rochester, where we already rank #2 in the country in rates of volunteering (nationalservice.gov), the story was no different. At the Rochester Museum and Science Center, where volunteerism is one of the key reasons the organization has lasted for more than a century, our volunteers did what they always do: they helped.

Almost without a second thought, the Landing Rock Garden Club and Rocheser Herb Society continued their weekly trips to RMSC to make sure our historic gardens looked beautiful amidst the uncertainty in the world. The RMSC Council quickly shifted the logistics of an annual fundraiser to allow for curbside pickup. The Technical Advisory Group, knowing there was a huge featured exhibit due to open in fall 2020, continued to meet virtually to ensure their contributions to the exhibit could move forward. Volunteers across the RMSC organization reached out to find out how they could contribute virtually from home, or when they could safely return. Long story short, the Volunteers of the RMSC, despite an unprecedented pandemic, instinctively wondered how they could help their beloved institution in a time of crisis. A microcosm of the Rochester community as a whole, our volunteers truly showed us last year what it means to honor your civic duty. Thank you, volunteers!

CELEBRATING OUR RETIREES

The RMSC would like to thank the employees who retired in 2020 for their years of dedication. We wish them a happy and healthy retirement!

Linda Anderson kept the RMSC clean and beautiful for our visitors as a Building Services Technician for 15 years!

Joan Dallis was the RMSC’s Volunteer Coordinator. She spent 2 years recruiting and training our organization’s wonderful volunteers!

Bill Holowka has been the Senior Preparator at the RMSC for 23 years. All of our wonderful signage is thanks to him!

Earple King was the RMSC’s ‘Mail Room Guru’. She handled sending out all of the RMSC’s communications to our donors and guests for 50 years!

George McIntosh is a distinguished and respected geologist/paleontologist who served as curator of geology and director of collections and dedicated his career to RMSC for more than 39 years. He is now the Emeritus Curator of Geology at the RMSC.
Your membership supports the transformation and growth of the RMSC and enables us to offer new hands-on, interactive experiences at the Science Museum, present amazing star shows and special events at Strasenburgh Planetarium, and provide hours of outdoor recreation at Cumming Nature Center. We thank you!
