The Voice Starts
Equal Rights Fight

The Voice is starting an EQUAL RIGHTS FIGHT and we know that you will all you can to help us. There are lots of business places that are owned by white men right in the heart of our colored business center, that refuse to employ colored help. On approaching them on the subject their answer was that they could not hire colored employees as they would lose trade and that they did quite well with white help. That is true, the white business man has progressed and become wealthy on his so-called loyal and efficient Negro trade, due to the patronage of his so-called efficient Negro trade, and we don't condemn him for it. It is you and I who are to blame and can we blame the white man for his stand? It is merely a matter of racial preference with him and it is the Negro who should be the most severely condemned. We as a group do not feel racial preference that the white man has to cooperate and to patronize our race business man.

Many of you have left homes in the South seeking that golden gift of democracy, good equal rights. Here we have equal rights only to the extent to which we as a minority group will cooperate and fight for it. You and You and You are responsible for a portion of this fight for equal rights. Let us know of your sympathy or your stand towards such a movement by sending in your name and address to The Voice office.

Four Scottsboro Boys Freed
As Their Trials Suddenly End

Decatur, Ala.—The saga of “the nine Scottsboro boys” is ended. The finale came with dramatic suddenness Saturday morning, the 24th, as the State of Alabama, through its prosecuting attorneys headed by T. F. Lawson, Assistant State Attorney General, calmly moved that the indictments against Olin Montgomery, Willie Robinson, Eugene Williams and Roy Wright be stricken from the record because the State was “convinced the defendants... are not guilty.”

The boys after six years behind bars, in the shadow of the electric chair, having been twice convicted and sentenced to death, but having been saved both times by the U. S. Supreme Court, were beside themselves with joy, shrieking and screaming as the rushed from the courtroom under armed guards, to be escorted to the state line, on their way to New York with Samuel S. Leibowitz, their lawyer.

The fate of the other five boys is still hanging in the balance. Ozie Powell, freed of the rape charge, was sentenced to 20 years for assault with intent to kill, after he pleaded guilty to slashing a deputy in a prison van last year on the way from Decatur to the Birmingham jail. Herwood Patterson is under 75 year jail sentence, Andy Wiggins is under 99 year sentence, Charlie Weems is under 75 year sentence, and Clarence Norris is under death sentence (which is likely to be commuted by Governor Bibb Graves.)

Attorney Leibowitz announced that he will continue to fight for the liberation of all of the boys, for it is the consensus of opinion that the boys are innocent of the charge of attacking Victoria Price.

Rev. J. E. Rose, pastor of Mt. Olivet Baptist Church, with Mrs. Rose and sons, James, Jr., and Harold vacationed in July visiting relatives and friends in Atlanta, Georgia, Virginia and other places.

The Crime Wave among the Afro-Americans of this community seems to have strung a new high during the months of June and July, resulting in death for one person and serious injuries to three others. We regret this situation, however, we must continue through pulpit services, churches and organizations to teach clean living, love and progress. The Afro-Americans are one of our next generation. From the good we wish other races in our midst to respect us as good and upright citizens.

Local Afro-American Barbers, that is, the majority of them here are now working on a Union Schedule, asking Union prices. However, only one barber is actually a member of the Barbers Local, by the name of H. Fields, whose shop is located on Charles St. He has been a member for the past 15 years. Local barbers say that if they did not work they would not have any voice in the affairs of the Union, therefore, he seems most unfortunate that this situation is allowed to prevail.

310 POUNDS OF NIMBLINESS

Troy Brown, holly screw comedian, who has a featured comedy role in “Hollywood Bound,” a feature production, starring Fredric March and Carole Lombard, is liquor with a bit of “swing” in the air in Hollywood.

Troy Brown proudly claims, and with ample justification, that he is the biggest thing to hit Hollywood in years. And so he is—three hundred and ten pounds of actor.

Brown, a trooper with 23 years of experience behind him, only recently arrived in the screen capital. At present he is playing the role of a policeman in David O. Selznick’s Technicolor production “Nothing Sacred,” co-starring Carole Lombard and Fredric March, and directed by William A. Wellman.

It was his flair for comedy that won Brown his screen chance. He cracked studio gates by laughing his way past the gateman, although he held down at the time he was headed for a film career.

The visit to a studio found Brown doing a favor for a friend who had an extra part in “Can This Be Thru.” Lacking transportation, the friend prevailed upon Brown to drive him to the studio.

At the gate, however, the guard refused admittance. Brown fell back on the comedy lines he had used again and again in vaudeville and in night clubs from coast to coast. While the guard was laughing, he walked in, and no attempt was made to stop him.

Once inside, Brown was herded to one side by a dance director who mistook him for one of the company. Because of his huge girth, the director singled him out. “Can you dance?” asked the director.

“As well as anybody here,” replied Brown, and he broke into an exhibition.

Since then he has played in “Under Your Spell,” “Angel’s Holiday” and “A Day at the Races.” His role as the fat alum in “Nothing Sacred” in his first straight acting part, and is one of the high moments in a story that shows how Father Kinkerbocker was thrown into a dizzy swirl when the small town girl, Miss Lombard, hit the big city in tow of the ace reporter, Fredric March.

Born in Memphis, Tennessee, Brown began his professional career in 1914. For years he toured with stock companies. Then for 7 years straight he traveled as a solo vaudeville act, appearing in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, London, Glasgow, Edinburgh, Liverpool, Amsterdam, Paris, Berlin and other large cities of U. S. and Europe.

In London, Brown was featured in “Dark Rhythm” as a singer, dancer and comedian, at the Palladium, and at the Leicester Square, in “Dark Doings.” On Broadway, in New York, Brown took part in the “Cotton Club Revue,” and was featured as entertainer at both the Kit Kat Club, New York, and the club of the same name in Montreal.

Why?

Rich Man in Hell
By Basil Arrington

The parable pictures the rich man as the nation of Israel crying to Abraham to send Lazarus to bring him the drop of water. The facts are that for many centuries the Israelites have begged and prayed that God would send them some relief through the Gentile nations of the earth. By this parable Jesus was foretelling to the Pharisees exactly this condition. The drop of water in the parable pictures the small measure of truth that would help refresh the Israelites in their distress. Jesus foretold that this prayer of the Israelites would be answered in this manner: "When you were in God's favor you had all the good things and every opportunity to be the peculiar treasure of God; and those you rejected. The Gentiles had nothing, but were in great want and distress. Now the favor of God is turned to the Gentiles, and they have comfort, and you must suffer."

The historical facts coming to pass exactly fit the prophecy. The Israelites long had the favor of God to the exclusion of all others, but from and after A. D. 73 they have suffered continuously.

In the parable Jesus speaks of the great gulf between the rich man and the pauper. What could that gulf represent? The Israelites looked for the coming of a mighty ruler that would rule the whole earth. When Jesus came to them and offered himself as their King, the clergy rejected him and influenced the nation to do likewise. The Gentiles that have followed Christ have accepted him as God's anointed King who shall rule the world in righteousness. The Israelites, the parable shows, would refuse to accept Christ, and the Gentiles would not become Jews; therefore this caused a great gulf or dividing space between them. Jesus was there telling the Israelites in symbol substantially this: "The fact that you have rejected God's provision for you, and the fact that God's favor has turned to the Gentiles, makes a great gulf between you."

Children in Court

A grocer's son was taken into custody yesterday in a nearby city by an inspector of the Bureau of Weights and Measures. The young man frankly admitted that he concealed the idea of short-weighting orders after having heard his father boast of a furtive practice by which a slight disadvantage was gained over a customer.

It was also discovered that the young man had deliberately failed over a period of six months of ringing up on the cash register all the money taken in. The court was not impressed with the father's indignation and frankly informed him that he had no complaint to make so long as he himself cheated his customers in his son's presence.

The tragedy of a boy with too much idle time on his hands was revealed in court today when a college freshman was convicted on a reckless driving charge in which several persons were injured.

Some ten or twelve years ago the son of the late Calvin Coolidge was approached at his work in a toluene shed by a young man who casually remarked "Believe me, if I had a car and my father was President of the United States, you wouldn't catch me doing this kind of work." Young Coolidge is reported to have looked up and replied, "You would if Calvin Coolidge was your father." If there were more parents like the late President we would have fewer boys with high-powered automobiles and large expense accounts seeking excitement and thrills on heavily-congested highways.

Mrs. Davis was survived by two daughters, Mrs. Leila Landers and Miss Ruth Nau, one grand-daughter, Margaret Landers; two nieces, Betty Harris and two cousins, Mrs. Amos Copeland and Charles Davis.

The funeral was held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Day, near this place, on Saturday, July 10 at 1 P. M., and from Mt. Olivet Baptist Church at 2 P. M., with Rev. E. E. Rose officiating. Funeral arrange-ments were made by the local Funeral Directors. Interment was in Mt. Hope Cemetery.
Outlet Does not want Race Patronage

The time is at hand when the Afro-American buying public should learn to spend his money at the RIGHT business places—at the places where color of his skin is not wanted and appreciated.

It is well known that the more money that is spent in a business the more prosperous and successful that business will become, so that it is well for a man of color to know whether or not a business concerns is friendly to the race before spending money with such a business. If a business is found to be an enemy to the race this fact is made known to the race this would be the opportune time for the race to take its money away from such a business.

Last week when representatives of The Voice approached the manager of The Outlet Credit Clothing Store on South Clinton Avenue they were treated in a very discourteous manner and told that the Outlet Company did not want colored patronage, of which The Voice is representative of 4400 Afro-American citizens in the city and county of Monroe. All self-respecting Negroes who wish to be true to their race should remember that The Outlet on S. Clinton Ave. definitely does not want our trade.

The management of The Voice recommends for your patronage The People's Credit Store located at 46 State Street, which company has shown its desire for your business in your newspaper and thus spending money with the race to make from the race.

Incidents similar to the above mentioned is one of the reasons why the Afro-American Co-operative Buyers League was organized here and one of the reasons why we believe that it will solve many of the problems which pester us.

Colored Investigator

Dear Editors:

In answer to your inquiry—would you like to have a colored Social Investigator and why? We feel that we, as a distinct racial group would be far more successful if we would organize and keep the people of other races what we can do. We have nothing to lose by organizing, and much to gain, and we need a Colored Investigator and we should stand back of him 100%.

Personally we would like to see sense of our people hold positions as Policemen, Postmen, Detectives and other positions that they are qualified to fill. We all cannot be leaders, so let's follow the lead of The Voice and cooperate with the editors. Very truly yours,
