MRS. FREDERICKA DOUGLASS PERRY

RELATIVE OF GREAT ABOLITIONIST PASSES

ALMA COLES

On Sunday morning, at about 10:45 A.M., she was awakened by a loud and familiar knocking at her front door. When she opened it, a black and white envelope was handed to her. It contained news of the passing of one valued friend. Mrs. Frederick Douglass Perry, who had just founded the Home Economics for Colored. On Sunday, October 17th, an ecumenical service was held at the Kansas City Temple of God where the Reverend Dr. Alain Leroy Locke, a recent graduate of Howard University, delivered an address in honor of Mrs. Perry. The service was attended by many friends, relatives, and dignitaries.

Mrs. Perry was born in Kansas City, Missouri, on May 15, 1890. She was the daughter of Frederick Douglass, one of the most famous abolitionists in American history. Mrs. Perry devoted her life to education and social work, and her contributions to the cause of equal rights were significant.

In commemoration of Mrs. Perry’s passing, the Kansas City Star published an obituary detailing her life and achievements. The newspaper lauded her as a leader in the fight for equality and justice, and her legacy continues to inspire new generations.

The service was held at the Temple of God, a large and ornate building located on the city’s main thoroughfare. The Reverend Locke delivered a passionate and moving address, paying tribute to Mrs. Perry’s dedication and passion for social reform.

In summary, the passing of Mrs. Frederick Douglass Perry marks the loss of a great woman who devoted her life to advocating for equal rights and social justice. Her legacy will live on through the work of those who continue to fight for a more just and equitable society.

A VOTE FOR WICKINS AND CONDON MEANS A VOTE FOR PROGRESSIVE LEADERSHIP

As another election day dawns on the Hudson, we pass before us candidates for a political position. We meet a party that is going to support the same idea 1 am going to help put into position in the legislative halls of our government to help run our political machinery.

Naturally one does expect new candidates after the election is over. A man who in children's aid is an election candidate owes no part of himself to the voters who made him, this victory possible and in order to keep that victory, he must grow in the people's favor by the way he speaks in the street. By this way he gains the door at the door of his office and by the Distrust of any desire he is called upon to make any time after taking office.

Some candidates who are elected to office by the people are placed where the Acts and предназ are made, changed, and repaired. Where nationalities and creeds. They then must go to the people's aid and look after their common wealth. Here hundreds of faces and thousands of neighbors and friends. Their children attend the same school as the children of the man or men who represent them in the high court.

A vote for a candidate must be based on the qualities of the candidate and the performance of the candidate. From that point of view this is a blueprint of the Democratic ticket. It is a revealing document, the result of a herculean task. From that point of view this is a vote for the candidates of the Democratic ticket. WALTER RYAN LEADS THE WAY

We are at war. Fighting should be in every way effective or not effective. If it is not effective, the end might just as well be a lingering one and soon that part of us who fight will bring our fighting men and women so much closer to home.
