Publisher Visits Ontario Camp In Company with State Officials

By Howard W. Coles

On Wednesday, June 21st, I received the invitation of Doctor Paul L. Huxley, of the State Health Department for this area to visit the Huxley Canning Factory on the Niagara River. While we were in Buffalo we decided to visit the factory and see what was going on there. We were accompanied by Mr. Charles E. Huxley, son of the factory owner, and by Mr. Huxley's secretary, and we all enjoyed the trip.

The factory is located about ten miles north of Buffalo. It is a large and modern factory, with all the latest equipment. The production line is very efficient, and we were impressed with the cleanliness of the place.

We were shown around the factory by Mr. Huxley and his general manager, Mr. Trestor. We saw the different departments of the factory, including the canning room, the packaging room, and the warehouse.

We were also shown around the company recreation facility, which is a considerable undertaking. It is located near the factory, and includes a large pool, a gymnasium, and a restaurant.

Mr. Huxley told us that the factory has been in operation for about twenty years. He said that the company has made a considerable investment in the factory, and that they are proud of the work that they do.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RE: BRUDD HOLLAND FEARS TRUE PROBLEMS AFTER THE WAR

Dear Sir:

I am writing to express my concern regarding the recent letters about the consequences of the war. Mr. Holland's fears about the future are understandable, but I believe that we should focus on the lessons we can learn from our experiences so far.

To begin with, the war has shown us the importance of international cooperation. In order to prevent future conflicts, we must work towards a more peaceful world. This requires strong leadership and a commitment to upholding international law.

Another lesson we have learned is the importance of education. In order to build a better future, we must invest in our children's education, ensuring that they are equipped with the knowledge and skills they need to succeed.

Finally, it is vital that we address the economic consequences of the war. We must ensure that those who have suffered the most during the conflict are not forgotten, and that they are supported in their efforts to rebuild.

In conclusion, while Mr. Holland's fears are understandable, I believe that we should focus on the lessons we can learn from our experiences so far. Let us work together towards a better future.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

Speaks from the Liberty Bridge

In part of the Fifth War Loan Drive, the choir and parish of M. E. Zion Church were present on the Liberty Bridge on Friday evening, June 16th. The prayer was given by Rev. Franklino J. Strickland, who was introduced by Rev. I. P. Pooler, district chairman of the Coordinating Committees for Negroes in 13 eastern counties of New York State.

Under the direction of Miss Clara Bundy, the choir sang "God's Study Way No More," and "Ja-Ceols Ladder." Rev. J. M. Mobley, pastor, of Mt. Gillet delivered the following address which was concluded with a stirring rendition of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

"Our Negro has always been an entangling factor in a war crisis. In the Civil War, they were embarrassed by the settlement of dispchanger investing itself with his own. The Spanish American War had its Black Hill, the fighting front whose help, reliable historians tell us, the Spanish Army might have been changed. The First World War might have been swung. The song of the Negro is the backbone of our present struggle. And in 1938, the story of Agatha was told to the nations following the treachery, the murder, the entanglement of the diplomatic duplicity which we comprised, in the testament of Ethiopia, or as it became known as Pearl Harbor Day. This is the Negro getting in our pseudo-democratic house. The absolute war was declared because of his embarrassing presence, a fact so obvious that even the political leadership of the country could not deny it. The face is haunted by the American consciousness when it is quiet, an equal share of the casualties arises. Over the horizon, it is Wilson's ghost that voices for all men, and what we are doing about it. We are going to do with the abominable separation.

Not only Adolph Hitler, but also Japan and Germany in America do not believe that God has made the world. They stand on the face of the earth. Our American people, though they are natives of as many shades, they need to be red. The death-knell for all such muddled nonsense is being sounded by the Negro horrors of today's battle fields, on the high seas, in the bosom of the torn, and in the black of the Negro soldier speaks for itself. From the day that the Negro soldier was made for the liberty of America, the face is put to fall in the bud of the Black Hills—this is the Negro soldier speaking for itself. From the day that the Negro soldier was made for the liberty of America, the face is put to fall in the bud of the Black Hills—this is the Negro soldier speaking for itself.

Philip Johnson when he wrote: "Lift to the Voice and the Bond," was a recrudescence of the Nazism we are seeking to destroy. He continues, "We are seeking to destroy God has chosen you for her cause of her embarrassing presence."
