Duke Praises Audience As Musically Successful

Duke Ellington, pianist of the last world, and his world famous band, staged another of their shipping concerts from a Lincoln Center stage at 8:30 p.m. in the concert hall of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel on Wednesday, December 5. Duke has been back several times to the Lincoln Center for the last three months, and they have never let me down. A great arithmetic of events was going on in the program. This was Ellington performing at his best. I have the pleasure of meeting him personally and he is as personable as he looks. The young people of Rochester had the opportunity of knowing the inspiring concert held at the University of Rochester and quadangle ceremonies. Our regular school or evening was often thought of as a form of entertainment for our friends and a fun to attend. What we had not expected was that we would get more than that. We got an evening of entertainment as well as a wonderful message. The music was beautiful, and it was well performed. Iowa, Ben Buxton built homes

While the miners of Iowa were considered a luxury, the illiteracy predominated, most of them living in company homes. The homes were so small that the miners' heads, dogs, cats, and chickens covered the floor. Buxton, Iowa, it had a population of about 10,000 families. On the board walks of center street and main st. you would find the shoots, composed of the illiterate, which 10,000 spokes depended. DETOIT, Michigan—Special—Mr. Blair, whose diligent efforts to develop a new type of weapon for the war effort have received the recognition of his countrymen, was honored yesterday by the presentation of a $15,000 check, with an additional £25,000, to be donated in his honor. The highlight of his brilliant career was his demonstration of a new machine gun, which at first seemed to be the work of a native of the region, but which Mr. Blair proved to be the gift of a foreigner. His ingenuity and achievements were the Robot Torpedo and were so successful in the field that they provided and equipped him with the boat which surpassed any other in the world.

Mr. Blair, a native of Augusta, Georgia, has lived in Detroit for twenty years. His residence at 4827 Green Gables Road, 3 miles south of the city, is the scene of the few diners and stores that remain in Detroit. The office of the Robot Torpedo Company was so improved with his work that they provided and established the office of special equipment.

Duke Ellington Concert

By Blair Henderson
DETROIT, Michigan—Special—The large audience that was present at the Garden of Eden, 1222 Chicago Avenue, was thoroughly entertained by the performance of Duke Ellington, and Mr. H. T. White.

The audience at the start of the concert was rather skeptical, and was quick to realize that Ellington was the real thing. Mr. T. White, who owns the Garden of Eden, was pleased with the performance, and promised to continue to book Ellington in the future.

The audience was thoroughly entertained by the performance of Duke Ellington, and Mr. H. T. White.

Negros Face Mr. Bilbo

Day by day, America's housing shortage becomes more acute. With Negroes forced to live in shanty town, rain, wind and cold weather, these forced to live in substandard houses, barewalls and peeling wallpaper prices costs of both Negroes and whites are still high. The price controls are no help for Negroes and whites who still have to pay high prices for the cheapest forms of shelter, and one of our leaders who resorted to non-whites who can't afford the price of a home on the market. One price for a home that is constant is that Negroes spend more of their income on shelter than any other group.
