“Let me give you a word of the philosophy of reform. The whole history of the progress of human liberty shows that all concessions yet made to her august claims, have been born of earnest struggle... If there is no struggle, there is no progress.”
This is the Negro History Week, in 1915, Dr. Carter G. Woodson, an educational association was founded for the study of Negro History. In order that the Negro would become a self-sustaining force, Dr. Woodson directed what was known as "Negro History Week". In a tribute to Frederick Douglass, generally regarded as the greatest Negro America has produced, both February 18, 1915, and also in tribute to the Great Emancipator Abra- ham Lincoln, who was born February 12, 1809, because these two birthdays fell on the same date, the Negro History Week was finally settled upon after the second time. In February 12, 1926, he estab- lished Negro History Week. This week is the 42nd an- nual observance. February is a very blustery month in itself. Considerable Negro American work was done in February. Thirteen months, 2.5 days, 230, 80c for foreign subscriptions. February 12, 1926, the 150th birthday of Dr. Woodson, in a speech at Fisk University, January 12, 1909, a conference was held in Washington, D.C. The Negro History Week, New York City which led to the formation of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, on February 14, 1917, during a speech at Fisk University. Since that historic night in 1961, when Miss Leontyne Price made her debut at the world-renowned Metropolitan Opera House, the great diva has continued to turn on again and again, winning acclaim by music critics everywhere as the "voice of the century." For within a few short years, this supreme talent has reached millions of the Met, La Scala, the Vienna State Opera, and the San Francisco Opera. Miss Price was given the starring role in "Aida" at Covent Garden, a new opera written expressly for her and the grand opening of the new Metropolitan this Fall; the great voice is the only one to have starred a season in both the old and new House.

Among the stars' homes and memberships are the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the Order of Merit from Italy, National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, honorary degree from Dartmouth and Howard Universities, trusts and board member for International House, and Fellow in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

The great diva, as commanding of form or color, during performances at one of her historic moments of music.

Chosen for the starring role in the first opening night of the new Metropolitan Opera House, Miss Price met the first time. She was a gold medal from the old Met.

WHEREAS: We are cognizant of the anxiety and concern of the thousands of residents, and homeowners who must be uprooted from their homes and communities. We are cognizant of the thousands of residents, homeowners, apartment dwellers, roomers, etc., who are now without the protection which has been theirs in the past. After several long years of planning, meetings, etc., nothing has been accomplished by the office of URBAN RENEWAL, except relocation of families, etc., who are concerned particularly within the Third Ward area, but without regard for the third ward, the third ward being a part of the City of Rochester, which is through good grace, under the Office of URBAN RENEWAL, the Common Council of the City of Rochester.
