UR Appoints James Harden

James Harden, a Rochester native, has been named director of the University of Rochester's Health Planning Council, an announcement made by Mayor Stephen May. Harden was formerly assistant secretary of health education and promotion for the New York State Department of Health. He has also served as assistant director of health education and promotion for the University of Rochester Health Center and as chairman of the Public Health Bureau of the New York State Department of Health.

The appointment of James Harden is significant for the University of Rochester, which has made a commitment to improving the health and well-being of the community. Harden's experience in public health and his understanding of the challenges faced by individuals and communities will be valuable assets as the University works to fulfill this commitment.

The appointment of Harden follows a search that began several months ago. The search committee included representatives from various segments of the University community, including students, faculty, and staff. The search was conducted in accordance with the University's policy on appointments to administrative positions.

Harden's background is well-suited for the role of director of the Health Planning Council. He has extensive experience in public health, with a particular focus on health education and promotion. He has been involved in a number of initiatives aimed at improving the health of the Rochester community, including the development of a community-based health education program.

Harden's appointment is effective immediately, and he will begin his duties at the University of Rochester on the day of his appointment. The University is confident that Harden will bring a wealth of experience and a commitment to improving the health and well-being of the Rochester community to his new role.

James Harden's appointment is a significant moment for the University of Rochester. It is a testament to the University's commitment to improving the health and well-being of the Rochester community and to the dedication of its faculty and staff.

This part of the 7th Ward does come up here. I'm going to the City Hall and I'm going to say something to the people of the 7th Ward. I think that the people of the 7th Ward need to know that I am for it and I am for it.

Some of these young people that are running for office need to know that I am for it and I am for it.

I have said on radio and TV that I am for it and I am for it.

There are none of those offices that are available this year.

I have gottospend a little more time with the map.

Before we had 141% in the city. So the district is a little bigger.

I think, this is one year that I think we could go out and work for it.

We have got to do some work, to go out and find some people to run for office.

To us, we can't talk about that area as the 7th ward, when we talk about it, we can't talk about that area as the 7th ward, when we talk about it.

You better get the people to help you.

Before we have a 7th Ward. When I first migrated from Birmingham, Alabama to Rochester in 1950, I went to General Railway and I was a train operator.

An All-High Dream Night Under the Stars

As of June 10, we are currently not dealing with a specific question or task. Please provide a question or task for me to assist with.
"RENT - A - KID"
A SUMMER YOUTH OPPORTUNITY FOR ROCHESTER AREA TEENAGERS

John A. Pratt, Jr., Vice President and Director of Marketing and Public Relations

The Genesee Brewing Co. Inc., Rochester, N.Y.

The idea for "Rent-a-Kid" was conceived by Rent-a-Kid staff at the bank as a way to provide employment and additional income for teenagers and homeowners. The program involves teenagers registering with Rent-a-Kid to provide various services to homeowners, such as yard work, cleaning, and babysitting. Homeowners can request specific services and Rent-a-Kid matches them with a qualified teenager.

Costanza explained that it is a logical move to look to the community for extra help during the summer. The program is designed to be beneficial to both teenagers and homeowners, with teenagers gaining valuable work experience and homeowners receiving needed services.

Teenagers interested in participating must provide certification of good behavior, be at least 14 years of age, and complete a parents' permission form. Rent-a-Kid staff will then match teenagers with suitable homeowners, and teenagers will be paid directly by the homeowner. Rent-a-Kid staff will also supervise each assignment to ensure the safety and well-being of all involved.

The minimum wage for these jobs is $1.85 an hour, which is the State's minimum wage for workers under 18. However, under federal law, teenagers may earn as little as $1.75 an hour in the summer.

The program is open to all teenagers and homeowners in the Rochester area, and Rent-a-Kid is contacting churches and youth organizations to spread the word. Teenagers interested in registering can do so at any time during the summer.

Alfred J. Sobin, President of Central Trust Company, said, "This is a wonderful way to help local teenagers find summer jobs. It's a win-win situation for everyone involved."

For more information or to register, call Central Trust at 454-7200, or contact Rent-a-Kid at 454-7200.

Rent-a-Kid has also partnered with various organizations to provide additional opportunities for teenagers, such as workshops and seminars on various topics.

The program demonstrates the importance of collaboration and community involvement in providing opportunities for local youth.

Variety of palms for indoor use

Palm that flourish in tropical areas around the world are better adapted for indoor use than many other tropical foliage plants.

According to a tropical plants specialist at the N.Y. State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, there are a number of dwarf varieties that can be planted in pots, tubs, and other containers.

Stop unwanted obscene mail

Sexually oriented advertisements, forwarded through the mail to unwilling recipients, can now be stopped as a result of a new Federal law. Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz said this week.

Effective February 1, 1971, for the first time, any person may stop mailings of unwanted obscene, or sexually oriented material merely by filling out a post office form.

The names and addresses on these forms will be computerized and a monthly list will be issued by the Post Office Department. Mailers of sexually oriented material must purchase this list from the Postal Service and therefore they should be transplanted in a large tub. Mott notes.

Clustered stem palms recommended for indoor use are the bamboo palm, clustered fishtail palm, European fan palm, butterfly palm, Mavarrurro cluster palm, broad-leaf lady palm, slender lady palm, Chamaedorea cataractarum, Chamaedorea Seifrizzi, and Chamaedorea costaica.

All of these palms require moist soil, and fertilization should be discontinued during winter but it should be resumed when warm weather arrives.

We all know it was Albert Einstein's formula which led to the creation of nuclear fission.

And we know it was Enrico Fermi who first harnessed nuclear power, and made it workable.

But who is Bob Stocks?

Well, Bob Stocks is the manager at RG&E's Brookwood Science Information Center who tells you all about Einstein, Fermi and nuclear power.

Come out. Bring the family. It's absolutely free.

• One display graphically demonstrates the generation of electricity.

• Another explains the structure of the atom and the occurrence of nuclear fission.

• One of the most exciting exhibits depicts the operation of the nuclear reactor used in RG&E's nearby Ginna Plant. A narrated film shows how heat from the reactor produces steam to operate the turbine that drives the electric generator.

• Actual Geiger counters demonstrate the detection of radiation and the effects of various materials shielding it.

• Other displays follow the story of uranium fuel from the mine to the final fuel element used in the Ginna Plant.

• In the Auditorium, slide illustrated talks and movie presentations elaborate upon the nuclear energy story.

We're always on hand to answer any questions you may have.

Bring the family to Brookwood this weekend. It's a pleasant drive from wherever you live (see map). Open Wednesdays thru Sundays, 10 A.M. to 4 P.M. No need to make a reservation. And there's never a charge.

Easy provisions for smokeless powder

A bill signed into law by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will relieve New York State sportsmen of the burdens imposed on them by legislation passed at the last session.

The new law, sponsored by Labor Committee Chairman Frederick L. Warder, is based on extensive committee research undertaken in response to letters and petitions from thousands of New York State sportsmen.

The Warder proposal, which conforms to Federal law, removes smokeless powder from the licensing provisions of the Labor Law and requires instead that sportsmen, who reload their own shells, register information identifying themselves when they purchase smokeless powder. The limitation on annual purchases is removed.

The bill prohibits the sale of smokeless powder to anyone under the age of 18 and upholds the state's authority to set standards for the safe use, transportation and storage of this material.

Under the old law, all hunters and sportsmen had to be licensed if they used smokeless powder to reload their own shells and were restricted by a 10-pound annual limitation. Applying for the license included annually paying a $10 application fee, obtaining a notarized, undergoing fingerprinting and then waiting three weeks to three months for a police record check and approval.

LARRY LEONARDO WILLIAMS
Local Man Enlists In Navy's Cache Program

Mr. Larry Leonardo Williams of 24 Lloyd Street, Rochester recently enlisted in the United States Navy CACHE program. This program allows a man to enlist into the Navy and then wait up to 180 days to report for active duty. Larry was enlisted into this program on April 1971 and began his four year tour with the active Navy on May 1971.

Larry will begin his tour by reporting to the United States Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois for 9 weeks of basic training. During the 9 weeks of basic training he will undergo such courses as Naval Speech, Aircraft, Military Justice and Discipline, Navy Language, Shipboard Life and many other necessary courses.

However, his prime concern in basic will be to learn about the jobs, schools and opportunities available to him in the United States Navy.

Upon completion of his basic training Larry will be promoted to SA (Seaman Apprentice) and will be assigned either to a Navy Technical school (Class A) or will be assigned to his first duty field for which he is best qualified.

Larry took his enlistment oath and was sworn in at the U.S. Navy Recruiting Station, Buffalo, N.Y. by Lt. jg Martell.

To our new bluejacket we wish the best and SMOOTH SAILING.

Question: I expect to be receiving most of this year and would like to have my Social Security benefit checks mailed to my bank. What information must I submit?

Answer: Your checks can be mailed directly to your bank if you grant power of attorney to the bank. In granting power of attorney over social security checks, three requirements must be met. First, there must be a need for it. Extensive travel would indicate a need. Second, you cannot assign the checks to the bank. They can only be deposited to your account. Third, the bank must be a reputable banking institution. If these conditions exist, complete Form 235 at your bank — then visit your social security office to change the address on your checks.
