Memorial Service Held for Mrs. Regina Alexander

A memorial service was held for Mrs. Regina Alexander at Mt. Olivet Baptist Church where she had been a member over fifty years. Mrs. Alexander came to Rochester in 1921. Her mother, Virginia Wilson, welcomed in those days the very few black people who came here to find a home. She brought her to Mt. Olivet Baptist Church where she joined. She was a member of the church for over forty years. Mrs. Regina Alexander was a beautiful woman and a楷模 to others. She was a great lady and loved by all.

His cousin Mrs. Stella Peyton of Washington, D.C., Mr. & Mrs. Calvin Gray, Daniel Gray, Mrs. & Mr. Douglas Hicks, Mrs. Irene Mathais, Eugene Gray and Family, Edwin Gray, Elmer & Alvin Gray of Norristown, Pa., Mrs. Laura Gray of Culpepper Virginia and a host of relatives and friends.

Dr. Isaac Dombo Returns to Zimbabwe

Last Sunday afternoon over two hundred people came to see Dr. Isaac Dombo, the guest speaker, and associate, Dr. Isaac Dombo, at the Triangle Community Center on Andrews St. A very fitting place to have an event, this is the home of the Frederick Douglass Foundation, which was founded in memory of Frederick Douglass. The event was a reception for Dr. Dombo while at the Anthony Jordan Health Center. Dr. Dombo was presented with gifts and salutations from his friends who he has loved and treated over many years at the center. Dr. Dombo came to the United States in 1965 and to Rochester in 1975 to work at the University of Rochester’s

The Black Business Council of Rochester, Inc. of which Gordon Kelso is president, held an affair sponsoring a dinner in honor of Rochester's first in three various fields at the Triangle Community Center Dec. 7th.

Mrs. Jan Owens of Jan’s Variety Shop, located at 214 W. Main St. was the first black female to operate a grocery store in Rochester. Mrs. Owens, who now seventy-five years old, began her business on the east side in the early thirties. She now assists young people interested in the business and trains them in her line of work.

While in D.C. I went by the Greyhoud Bus Terminal, to see if there were any people traveling south. I knew, and to my surprise a young man passed who is one of our newest students who is stationed at Fort Bragg, N.C. He is now Sgt. Ronald Frazier, a private of the Army. He is the son of Annie Frazier of Olean Street. I took a couple of pictures of him. We talked at length and he sent regards to all his friends here at home. He would like to hear from his home friends. His address is Sgt. Ronald Frazier, 941 S. 45 S. Fort Bragg, N.C. His phone number is area code 910-396-1920. Write to him — he wants to hear from his home friends.

While sitting there next to a man who heard me speak of Rochester, he said he lost one of his cousins last year here in Rochester, and said her name was Nancy DuPree, our famous poet, who passed, I told him she was one of my best friends, which he was happy to know. His name was Peter Peterson who lives in Sumter, S.C., not far from Nancy's mother. He grows peanuts and gave me a large bag of peanuts to bring home.

A lady who was sitting next to me heard our conversation regarding Rochester and she too had relatives here who work at Kodak. Her name was Cecilia Russell whose daughter, Marian Russell, is indeed an inspiration to the heritage of Black women. She raised fifteen children of the late 1700 and died in 1896. She leaves to mourn, her husband, Charles. She was a member of the Trustee Board and held many offices.

It's Christmas!

The wonderful presents you bought or made are bringing the joy you'd hoped for. Each festive package, with its cheerful paper and perky bow, has delighted many an eye.

Now, though, the presents are opened and the paper torn, the giving goes on. Special gifts wrapped, not in paper, but in smiles, in hugs, and in gently spoken words. These are the gifts of love, as important every day as they are today.

A gift from the heart is more than given or gotten, it is immediately shared; and as love is shared, it grows. Grow a bit of love every day and... have a very Merry Christmas! McCurdy's

We’ve found a way to keep the best students and teachers from dropping out.

Some of America’s best and brightest people don’t stay in school as long as they should. And, that includes those who could be teaching.

For 1982 and beyond, Kodak will be taking bold new steps to support studies at the bachelor’s, doctoral, and postdoctoral teaching levels.

Three new programs will identify and assist key individuals, judged on their academic excellence alone, who are pursuing careers in engineering or science.

Take our Teaching Incentive Grants Program, for instance. It helps divert the most promising doctoral graduates from the lure of business and industry and encourages them to teach. Or stay with on-campus research. The program provides substantial financial assistance to individual teachers, as well as a smaller grant to their departments, for five years. At its peak, we’ll be helping 25 faculty members at as many selected schools.

The new Kodak Minority Academic Awards Program will identify many of the most gifted minority high school students and help them reach their fullest potential through university scholarships in science or engineering. The program will pay about half the tuition costs for nearly 240 scholars.

Our third new venture, the Kodak Fellows Program, will provide full tuition and monthly stipends to 30 doctoral students, plus smaller unrestricted grants to their departments.

In 1981, nearly half of Kodak’s educational aid contributions of about $5 million went to assist eight Rochester-area colleges and universities. At the time of the annual announcement, our chairman, Walter A. Fallon, noted: “The financial contributions we make are investments in the future of society designed to produce dividends for us all. Investing in education—and in research—may take longer to pay off, but the dividends are that much greater.”

Keeping the best students and teachers from dropping out is one of those dividends.

“Doing more than meets the eye.”

Health Hints

Sickle Cell Anemia

Over 50,000 Americans currently have sickle cell anemia — a disease which affects the body’s supply of oxygen-carrying red blood cells. Additionally, 2.5 million Americans have the sickle cell trait. While sickle cell anemia is most common in Blacks (1 in 10 are estimated to have the trait), individuals of Spanish, Greek, Italian, Turkish and Indian descent and people whose heritage is from the Mediterranean area may sometimes have sickle cell.

Symptoms, which usually appear after six months of age, though sickle cell is present from birth, include: leg ulcers — usually found around the ankles — that won't heal; swollen and painful hands and feet; slow growth, jaundice and painful joints.

While researchers are still looking for the ultimate cure, sickle cell anemia can be determined through a simple, routine blood test. Once found, the disease can usually be controlled through medication and sometimes surgery.

Since sickle cell anemia is an inherited trait, family history can be very important. If someone in your family has sickle cell anemia or if you suspect that you, a relative or a friend might have this life-threatening disease, contact your physician, neighborhood health center or hospital and ask to be tested.
