Ireland’s Impact on the Development of Frederick Douglass

Author/Compiler(s): Ethan Billings, Eric Kegler, Nicholas Mitten, Gino Pellett, Rebecca Sienkiewicz, and Alex White

Suggested Age Group: High School

Lessons/Themes: Abolition,

Topic Overview:
This video presentation describes information on Frederick Douglass’ time in Ireland, and takes a closer look at some of Douglass’ connections in Ireland and the UK. Associates such as Daniel O’Connel are highlighted as influences on Douglass’ oratory styles. It also brushes over topics such as “The North Star,” one of the newspaper publications that Frederick Douglass published in Rochester.

For More Information, Please Reach out:
Eron Demercy, School and Teacher Programs Coordinator
edemercy@rmsc.org